Acknowledgments

I would like to express my thanks:

1. To YHWH Elohim ([יהוה אלהים] or [יְהוָה אֱלֹהִים]) for enabling me to play a small role in the maintenance and improvement of Zolai;

2. To the late Rev. Dr. Joseph Herbert Cope, for reducing Zokam to Roman script and for educating Zomi people;

3. To my father's second cousin, the late Rev. Tg. Sukte T. Hau Go, for translating many hymns and booklets into Zolai; and

To Rev. Dr. Tg. Kam Khaw Thang, for translating The Child's Story Bible by Catherine F. Vos (Lai Siangtho Tangthu Naupang T'a), the reading of which launched me into studying the Bible, and for translating the whole Bible;

4. To my father, the late Pastor-General Tg. Thang Za Kam (Tg. Kampu), for teaching me one of the most fundamental — yet one of the most neglected and ignored — elements of alphabetic writing: placing a sufficient amount of space between two words in handwriting, and placing one space between two words in typing; and

To my late maternal grandfather, Sia Tg. Pau Za Dongh (Tg. Donghkawi), for teaching me punctuation when I was in the fourth standard (primary school);

5. To my mother, Lia Niang Za Dim (Lia Dimno), for teaching me Lesson 1 of Zolai Sim Bu Tan Khat ("Ka dah mah mah", etc.) on the first morning before school where I was to study Zolai for the first time. (Zolai was not taught in my kindergarten class in the mission school I attended the previous year.);

6. To my third cousin, the late Sia Tg. S. L. Hang Khan Pau (Tg. Paupu), for teaching me diligence in handwriting, spelling, punctuation and pronunciation in my fifth standard (middle school); and

To my maternal uncle, Sia Tg. Kam Khen Cin, for encouraging me to be proficient in English by buying me the The Advanced Learner's Dictionary of Current English, one of the best dictionaries in the world for students;

7. To Rev. Dr. Tg. Simon Enno (Tg. Pau Khan En), for inviting me to attend the founding meeting of Zomi Christian Literature Society (ZCLS), and to participate in its research activities; and

To Rev. Tg. Paul Thuam Thang, for encouraging me to delve into research on Zolai, especially on tones and tone sandhi, and share the findings of my research, and for allowing me (along with him) to represent ZCLS to other organizations;

8. To the late Siapi Tg. Vul Za Thang, and

To the late Sia Tg. J. Gin Za Twang, for inspiring me — by compiling Chin English Dictionary (Tiddim-Chin) — to study tones in our language;

9. To My brother-in-law, Lt.-Col. (Dr.) Tg. Kam Khan Thawng, and

To my doctoral mentor, Rev. Dr. Colin Brown (professor of systematic theology, director of the Center for Advanced Theological Studies, and associate dean of the School of Theology, Fuller Theological Seminary, Pasadena, California, USA), for inspiring me to greater diligence, meticulousness, and consistency in reading and writing;

10. To Tg. Pau Lian Nun (Tg. Nunpi) for giving me many of his books and magazines for use in my research;

11. To Tg. Michael Suan Lian Pau for implementing the principles of punctuation written in this book;

12. To Rev. Tg. Go Khan Pau (Fort Lauderdale, Florida),

To Tg. Thang Khaw Pau (Cumming, Georgia), and

To Tg. Sing Pi (Clarkston, Georgia)

for willingly and proactively letting me use their computers;

13. To my son Tg. Kam Sian Tung (Tg. Tungpi) for helping me acquire my own laptop computer;

14. To Tg. Tual Khan Suan (USA),

To Tg. Disciple Kap Sian (Sianpu) (Malaysia),

To Tg. Paul Khaipu (Australia), and

To Tg. Joshua Gin Khaw Mang Shoute (Canada)

for encouraging me to write this kind of paper and this kind of book;

15. To my brother, Tg. Raymond Pau Lian Mang (Tg. PLMangno), and

To brother-in-law, Tg. Nang Sawm Piang, for helping me in printing and publishing this book;

16. To Zomi Innkuan Singapore, for financially sponsoring me in publishing this book; and

To Zomi Christian Literature Society, for taking the responsibility of distributing this book;

and

17. To friends and family, and fellow language lovers, far and near.

A Nostalgic Small Piece of Zolai Grammar

By Taang Zomi

Today (19 APR 08 SAT), I looked for and found a brief piece of writing on Tedim Zolai grammar, which I wrote way back in 1996 (some twelve years ago).

In 1996, I began a newsletter-cum-mailing list, called The TBC (The Thang Bawi Communique, <http://web.archive.org/web/19991011083218/private.fuller.edu/~pthang/tbc1.html>), which was a precursor of Zomi International Network (<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/zomi>) and other yahoogroups and googlegroups.

In March 1996, I began the first-ever Zomi websiste (The Thang Bawi Home Page, <http://private.fuller.edu/~pthang>).

This webpage is no longer valid, but most – but not all – of it is archived here:

<http://web.archive.org/web/19991010190932/private.fuller.edu/~pthang/>

During 1996, Thuah Aung (Wilfred Bening), a famous singer and computer software programmer, also had his webpage (Rammawi Home Page <http://adams.patriot.net/~premil/rammawi.html>), which was the third or fourth webpage after mine.

He sent us a list of sentences in English to be translated into Tedim, Falam, Hakha, Matu, Mara, Cho, etc.

He translated it into Falam. I translated it into Tedim. He put our translations on his webpage.

Today, I looked for his webpage, and found out that the webpage no longer existed. I looked for the webpage on the Internet Archive (<http://www.archive.org>), but it was not there.

I remember that Dr. Vum Son put my translation on his webpage (Information Central for topics related to Zo Re-unification and Democracy and Federalism in Burma, (<http://home.us.net/~suantak>)). When I tried to go there, I found out that the webpage was no longer in existence. I went to the Internet Archive, and fortunately the archive of the webpage is still there:

<http://web.archive.org/web/20031008112250/home.us.net/~suantak/>

Fortunately, my translation is still there:

http://web.archive.org/web/20031029234540/home.us.net/~suantak/l_tedim.htm

In 1995-1996, I used Eudora Light 1.x for Macintosh (see <http://www.eudora.com>) as my main POP3 email client, which was plain text only (that is, it did not have RTF or HTML format). At that time web-based email (such as Hotmail or Yahoo Mail) was un-heard of. I used Monaco (fixed, monospaced font) 9 points when I wanted to write columnar tables, and Palatino (proportional font) 12 points when I wrote academic papers. (I used Micosoft Word 5.1 for formal writing.)

Now that I use Windows operating system, I use Outlook Express 6 (both plain text and HTML) as one of my POP3 email clients. For tabulation, I use Courier New (fixed, monospaced font) 10 points in place of Monaco, and for academic papers, I use Times New Roman 12 points in place of Palatino. (Actually, I now use OpenOffice.org Writer 2.4²⁰ to create tables.)

There have been lots of changes within 12 years!

With a deep feeling of nostalgia, I hereby reproduce my small piece of writing on Tedim Zolai grammar.

We Zomis have not yet had a good, reliable grammar book. We are still in the process of developing grammar and a grammar book.

I look forward to comments from my readers.

²⁰ Now, in September 2010, I use OpenOffice.org 3.2.1

Word or Phrase		Definition
ni	=	(imperative or hortative mood of verb) let us
lim*1	=	(adjective/verb) delicious; be delicious mahmah	=	(adverb of degree) very tua	=	(demonstrative pronoun; demonstrative adjective) that hong*5	=	adverbial particle used to refer to direction inward
pia	=	(verb) give

Footnote *1 What is regarded as an adjective in English grammar can be regarded as a verb in Burmese, Zomi (Laimi) and Hebrew grammar. Look at the following sentences:

(1)	Amah	hau				hi.		(He is rich.)
(2)	A	hau	mi	suak	nuam		ing.	(I want to become a rich man.)

In the first sentence, "hau" (=be rich) is a verb in Zomi (Laimi) and Burmese grammar. [In Burmese, the sentence reads:

"Thu chantha thi."] But in English, "rich" is a predicative adjective (an adjective used predicatively).

In the second sentence, "a hau mi" means "a rich person". [In Burmese, it is: "chantha thaw thu".] Here "hau" is an attributive adjective (an adjective used attributively). In this case, Zomi (Laimi), Burmese and English grammars have the same opinion.

Footnote *2 There are three such copulas, viz., "ka", "na" and "a". Look at the following sentences:

(1)	Kei	ka	pai	hi.	(I go.)
(2)	Nang	na	pai	hi.	(You go.)
(3)	Amah	a	pai	hi.	(He goes.)

"Ka" is the pronominal copula²¹ joining the subject "kei" (first person singular pronoun) and the verb "pai". "Hi" is the end particle used to signify that the sentence comes to an end.

"Na" is the the pronominal copula joining the subject "nang" (second person singular pronoun) and the verb "pai".

"A" is the pronominal copula joining the subject "amah" (third person singular pronoun) and the verb "pai".

21 In English, a copula is a verb-to-be (be, is, am. are, was, were, etc.). Here, I use the word copula to mean a word used to join two elements. I call it pronominal prefix elsewhere.

Footnote *3 When we want to omit a pronominal copula, such as "ka" or "na", we replace the end particle "hi" with the pronominal particle concerned. Look at the following sentences:

(1)	Kei	ka	pai	hi.
	Kei		pai		ing
(2)	Nang	na	pai	hi.
	Nang		pai		teh
(3)	Amah	a	pai	hi.
	Amah		pai	hi.

In the first sentence, we omit the pronominal copula "ka" and the end particle "hi". In place of "hi" we put the pronominal end particle for first person singular "ing".

In the second sentence, we omit the pronominal copula "na" and the end particle "hi". In place of "hi" we put the pronominal end particle for the second person singular "teh".

In the third sentence, we omit the pronominal copula "a". But we do not omit the end particle "hi" because there is no separate pronominal end particle for the third person singular to replace "hi".

Footnote *4 In English, the preposition (pre-position) is one of the eight parts of speech. The word that is put before (=pre) a noun or a noun equivalent is called a preposition. Look at the following sentence:

(1) Tedim-ah va pai in. (Go to Tedim.)

(1)	Tedim-	ah	va	pai	in.	(Go to Tedim.)
-----	--------	----	----	-----	-----	----------------

Here, in the sentence in English, the word "to" is put before a noun (Tedim). Therefore "to" is a preposition.

But in Zomi (Laimi) and Burmese grammar, "ah" ("to" in English) is put after (=post) a noun (Tedim) or noun equivalent. Therefore we should call it "postposition" (post-position) instead of "preposition". I think Japanese grammar is the same as ours in this case.

Footnote *5 There are two adverbial particles used to refer to direction of movement, viz., "hong" and "va". Look at the following sentences:

(1)	Hong	pai	in.	(Come here.)
(2)	Va	pai	in.	(Go there.)

In the first sentence, the vocative of address is omitted. The sentence is the same as the following:

Zolai Gelhmaan

(1)	(Nang)	hong	pai	in.	[(You) come here.]
-----	--------	------	-----	-----	--------------------

"Hong" is used to refer to direction inward, or to a destination directed toward the person speaking.

In the second sentence also, the vocative of address is omitted. The sentence is the same as the following:

(2)	(Nang)	va	pai	in.	[(You) go there.]
-----	--------	----	-----	-----	-------------------

"Va" is used to refer to direction outward, or to a destination directed away from the person speaking.

Our special thank goes to Rev. Pau Cin Thang for his contribution of Tedim dialect.

YE MUST BE BORN AGAIN

John 3:5 (John 3:3-7)

Lyrics: 1877

William
True
Sleeper

(1819-1904)

Music:

George Coles
Stebbins

(1846-1945)

1. A ruler once came to Jesus by night
To ask Him the way of salvation and light;
The Master made answer in words true and plain,
“Ye must be born again.”

REFRAIN:

“Ye must be born again,
Ye must be born again,
I verily, verily, say unto thee,
Ye must be born again.”

2. Ye children of men, attend to the Word,
So solemnly uttered by Jesus the Lord;
And let not this message to you be in vain,
“Ye must be born again.”
3. O ye who would enter that glorious rest,
And sing with the ransomed the song of the blest,
The life everlasting if ye would obtain,
“Ye must be born again.”
4. A dear one in Heaven thy heart yearns to see,
At the beautiful gate may be watching for thee,
Then list to the note of this solemn refrain,
“Ye must be born again.”
16. Hih la pen John 3:3-7 sung pan a kila hi-a, a thulu pen John 3:7 pan a kila ahi hi. A kilaakna Lai Siangtho pen King James Version ahi hi:

John 3:5-7 (King James Version)

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

7 Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again.

At the end of the Portmadog cob, on the left if you are driving towards Portmeirion, is a small house where until recently you had to pay a 5p toll per car – an unusual practice, to say the least, on a British A-class road. It's a legacy of William Madocks' original toll, which helped rescue him from financial difficulty. But it is no more. The road was nationalized by the Welsh Assembly in 2005.

The opening paragraph of the old toll-board is a Roget's Thesaurus of early nineteenth century vehicle names:

TO BE TAKEN AT THIS GATE

For every Horse or other Beast of Draught drawing any Coach, Sociable, Berlin, Landau, Chariot, Vis-a-Vis, Chaise, Calash, Chais-marine, Curricule, Chair, Gig, Whisky, Caravan, Hearse, Litter, Waggon, Wain, Cart, Dray, or other Carriage, any Sum not exceeding One Shilling:

For every Horse, Mare, Gelding, or Ass, laden or unladen,

<http://www.amazon.co.uk/exec/obidos/ASIN/0007235577/crystalrefere-21>

and not drawing, the Sum of Sixpense: but if there shall be more than one such Horse, Mare, Gelding, Mule, or Ass, belonging to the same Person, then the Sum of Sixpense shall be paid for one of them only, and the Sum of Threepense only for every other of them:

For every Drove of Oxen, Cows, or Neat Cattle, any Sum not exceeding Five Shillings per Score, and so in proportion for any greater or less Number:

For every Drove of Calves, Pigs, Sheep or Lambs, any Sum not exceeding Three Shillings and Sixpense per Score, and so in proportion for any greater or less Number:

And for every Person crossing or passing on Foot, without any beast³⁴ or Carriage, any Sum not exceeding Two-pense.

The sign shows the eighteenth-century liking for capital letters on nouns considered to be important – Coach, Mare, Pigs, Horse, Berlin, Person, Chaise ..., of course, as these are the factors; but also Numbers, Sum, and Foot, which the sign-writer felt needed extra prominence. The fashion for noun capitalization died out by the end of the century.
